SEATTLE, WA – October 11, 2007 - Sustainable Group, an innovative product company that provides environmentally responsible office products, is excited to announce that they have been chosen as the preferred vendor for American Reprographics Company. American Reprographics Company is the largest reprographics company in the United States, providing document management services to the architectural, engineering and construction industry, as well as to other industries that require sophisticated document management services.

“At American Reprographics Company, we’re always looking for new and innovative ways to serve our diverse customer base,” said Joe Abeyesinhe, V.P. of Purchasing and Strategic Partnerships at ARC. “With the focus firmly on environmentally-friendly solutions to all aspects of document management – including the presentation of such documents – Sustainable Group gives us product options that few people associate with our business. When we present Sustainable Group’s solutions, it surprises people and satisfies their desire to be responsible in their use of non-renewable resources. In turn, it allows us to create more meaningful relationships with our customers.”

Sustainable Group will be providing American Reprographics Company with a complete line of presentation materials, to be used in coordination with the Company’s “GreenPlan.” Like all of Sustainable Group’s products, these presentation materials are recyclable and made from Post Consumer Recycled corrugated cardboard and bending chip board.
